paxel23.com – Anna Margrét Ólafsdóttir

A game for two to four players. Use a deck of cards and something you can use to move on the playboard. If two play the game you use two shapes, if the players are three you use three and all shapes are used if four play the game. One plays for heart, the next for spade and so on. The players put what they will be using to move on their shape. They can drag to find out what shape to play. The players, one at a time drag a card from the deck of cards. If the player is playing „heart" and drags a heart he moves his „man" one step ahead. If he drags another shape the next player takes his turn. The winner is the first one to land on 10.
	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10